Alma Platinum IV UBS Multi Strategy Alternatives

Fund Assets under Management: € 343,786,405

Investment Strategy

Alma Platinum IV UBS Multi Strategy Alternatives ("the Fund") is a "multi-manager" fund, meaning that Alma Capital Investment Management (Investment Manager) appoints a number of sub-investment managers to each manage a segment of the assets of the Fund (Segment). UBS Hedge Fund Solutions LLC (Investment Adviser) advises the Management Company on selection of sub-investment managers and allocation of Fund to each Segment from time to time. The sub-investment managers will invest in a wide range of investments, using a variety of investment strategies and techniques. Among these may be i) "equity hedge" strategies, where the Fund will invest in shares of companies but use financial contracts (derivatives) to try to limit the effect of negative market movements; ii) "relative value" strategies, where the Fund will invest in across a variety of assets but will try to take advantage of mis-pricing and other opportunities to gain a return; iii) "trading strategies" where the Fund will invest in a broad range of assets (share in companies, foreign exchange, tradable debt issues by companies and governments, currencies) where a sub-investment manager believes that it can achieve a return; and iv) "credit/income" strategies where the Fund will invest in debt investments. The Investment Manager may also invest up to 10% of the assets of the fund in other collective investment schemes.

Key Benefits

- Access a diversified fund of hedge funds portfolio selected by a dedicated investment team
- Benefit from the hedge fund value proposition, namely taking advantage of investment opportunities while controlling downside risk
- Benefit from the high levels of transparency that is required by the regulator
- Benefit from the fund's daily liquidity

Key Risks

- Unlike traditional investments, hedge funds do not primarily aim to attain exposure in specific markets or investment instruments. They differ in their more frequent use of derivative instruments and in trying to leverage their return by borrowing funds, using derivatives and taking up short positions on securities. As a result, they have potential risks in addition to the market, credit and liquidity risks associated with traditional investments. This requires corresponding risk tolerance and capacity. Investors should also be aware that these funds offer no capital preservation guarantee. All investments are subject to market fluctuations. Every fund has specific risks, which can significantly increase under unusual market conditions.

Commentary - September 2020⁽⁵⁾

Risk assets generally declined during the month, as investors started to concentrate on the possibility of a second wave of Covid-19 infections over the winter, and the contraction that could bring. Global equities ended the month in negative territory, as did commodities, driven by energy and silver coming off their highs. Early in the month we saw some factor rotation, from growth into value, which abated by the end of the month.

Performance Commentary:

In a month where markets turned negative and factors rotated, the majority of the portfolio managed to stay in flat to slightly negative territory. At the strategy level, positive performance was led by Relative Value and Trading during September, particularly US-focused convertible arbitrage approaches and systematic macro managers. However, these gains were offset by losses in Equity Hedged, specifically Asian exposures.

Positive performance YTD has been driven by Equity Hedged strategies, while Relative Value is in slightly negative territory for the period. Trading continues to be the largest detractor. At the manager level, the largest detractor from performance is an Equity Hedged manager, while the largest contributor is an event-driven manager.

The largest contributor to performance was a convertible arbitrage manager. Valuations improved during the month on the back of continued equity market volatility (particularly within the technology and healthcare sectors), relatively stable credit spreads and some softening in the new issue calendar, which allowed the market to digest the previous month's heavy volumes. Likewise, a systematic macro manager attributed gains to short exposure to the energy sector, although these gains were partially offset by precious metals exposure, which fell sharply towards the end of the month.

The largest detractor from performance was manager China-focused Equity Hedged manager. The manager's net long bias negatively impacted performance, as the Hong Kong market fell over 5%. Positions in the healthcare sector, specifically, were negatively impacted after the Chinese government expanded their group purchase organization, cutting drug prices more than expected.

Current Investment strategy and outlook:

During the month, we fully redeemed from a risk arbitrage manager. We capitalised on a good entry point earlier in the year to scale up this position; however, as deal spreads compressed, we gradually reduced the position. As previously mentioned, we added a convertible arbitrage manager to the portfolio during September. This relative value manager targets mis-pricings within corporate capital structures, focusing on US convertible securities, which we perceive to be an attractive sector given current valuations. We continue to manage the portfolio in line with the wider firm view, keeping beta down as we head into the US election cycle and being cautious of a sudden value/growth rotation which could be triggered by news signalling a relief in the Covid-19 pandemic or a Democratic Party win.

(3) Source: Alma Capital. Exposure by region is calculated on a delta adjusted basis and is determined by the country where the issuer of the security generates a majority of its revenue, where this information is available. Regional exposures reflect the equity, credit and commodity exposures, and do not include currency or interest rate exposures. (4) Source: Alma Capital. Seeks to capture the full market value or 'market exposure' of positions decomposed by asset class, with the exception of Interest Rate Exposure which is expressed in U.S. 10yr Equivalent terms. For equity, credit and commodity instruments this is the market value of the position or underlying position in the case of derivatives, delta-adjusted in the case of options. In the case of Credit Default Swaps the notional quantity is used. Foreign Currency Exposure seeks to capture the inherent currency risk determined at instrument level. For cash securities this is normally the market value, however for 'financed exposures' via derivatives this may equal the mark-to-market as appropriate. Foreign Currency Exposure includes all currencies except EUR, and captures cash holdings and the notional legs of foreign exchange transactions. As certain instruments have exposure to multiple risk factors, they are captured in multiple asset classes like for example corporate bonds having both credit and interest rate exposure.
