Investment Strategy

- The strategy was launched in September 2015 and trades a single investment strategy focused on liquid credit indices within the investment grade credit space. It implements the strategy by investing in CDX and iTraxx indices, tranches of these, index options and single name CDS.
- The goal is to achieve opportunistically a market neutral approach that aims to limit exposure to extreme moves while providing a positive carry and positive convexity over the intermediate term.
- In addition to the core strategy supplemental alpha opportunities arise roll yield as the index rolls twice per annum to the new on-the-run series, the strategy will profit from the technical cheapening of the previous on-the-run index; the strategy also utilises derivatives such as options to create a positively convex return profile in order to try to minimise market risk.

Commentary - Selwood Asset Management LLP - April 2023⁽¹¹⁾

After March, where a full blown banking crisis impacted risk sentiment, April's theme returned to central banks and their attempts to combat still stubborn inflation. Aside from inflation, macro data were largely mixed. While headline CPI was expected to fall, as energy prices had reduced significantly, core inflation remained sticky across the US (5.1%), EU (still at the high of 5.7%) and UK (6.2%, or 20bps above cons.). UK headline inflation surprised, by remaining above 10%. Elsewhere global PMIs highlighted a higher than expected services print, helping US, EU and UK composite measures to rise mom. However, while US manufacturing recovered back into expansionary territory (50.4), both EU and UK prints were worse than expected and further into contraction. Ahead of the FOMC, ECB and UKMPC meetings in early May market expectations priced at least another +25bps hike from all three, albeit with the Fed possibly closer to its terminal rate. This was reflected in sovereign rates with UST yields falling modestly, although the 2s10s curve did marginally invert further (closing -58.4bps). Bund and Gilt yields rose in the month on expectation that both central banks had further to go with their monetary policy tightening. The final week of the month saw fears reignite over the strength of US regional banks, with Pacific West particularly in the headlines. Most price action was restricted to equities with PacWest's precipitous share price decline ultimately leading to yet another US bank failure with a bail out just after month end.
